

Listening 11: Lesson 3A, Exercise 3

- Route 1 At the roundabout, go straight on. Go past that rubbish bin and at the end of the road, turn left. Then turn left again. It's opposite the billboard.
- Route 2 Go straight on at the roundabout. Go past the postbox and at the end of the road, turn right. Go across the pedestrian crossing. Then follow the footpath ... and you're there!
- Route 3 Go left at the roundabout. Then take the first right. Go past the bus stop. At the traffic lights, go straight on. At the end of the road, turn right. And you're there.

Listening 12: Lesson 3A, Challenge!

- 1 Don't drop that packet on the floor, put it in the rubbish bin.
- 2 She lost control of the car and it hit a telegraph pole.
- 3 In Wales, the road signs are in English and Welsh.
- 4 I was videoing the party when I fell into the swimming pool.
- 5 While I was walking through the shopping centre, I met my head teacher.
- 6 My dad is brilliant at table tennis.

Listening 13: Lesson 3C, Exercise 1

Speaker 1 I know it's a tradition, but I just think it's a really cruel activity. I'm glad that it's illegal now. To be honest, I think it's wrong. There are other hobbies you can do – there's no need to kill animals for fun.

Speaker 2 I live in a village in the country, and there's a long history of fox-hunting there. It wasn't just the rich people – the upper classes – that did it. Everybody took part together. And it was good for the economy of this area. I think the ban is a shame.

Speaker 3 I think even before the ban, fox-hunting was losing its popularity. It's outdated, isn't it? I mean, I don't know any young people who liked it. So for me, the hunting ban is fine. I'm happy about it.

Speaker 4 Some people say fox-hunting is part of the countryside – you know, it's traditional – but I know a lot of farmers who are happy about the hunting ban. They say that fox hunts always caused a lot of damage to their fields and hedges, because the hunters rode their horses over them when they were chasing the fox.

Speaker 5 I didn't have a strong opinion about fox-hunting before the ban. But I get angry when I read about people who break the law and still go hunting. It's really important to respect the law. That's even more important than respecting a tradition.

Listening 14: Lesson 3F, Exercise 3

- 1 There's a man in the foreground holding a mobile phone.
- 2 There's a church behind the man.
- 3 The man is wearing a watch on his right wrist.
- 4 In the background there's a woman wearing a striped top.
- 5 The man on the right is wearing a tie.
- 6 The man on the right is wearing a shirt with short sleeves.